

*How much more there is now to living!
We can lift ourselves out of ignorance, we can find ourselves as creatures of excellence and intelligence and skill.*

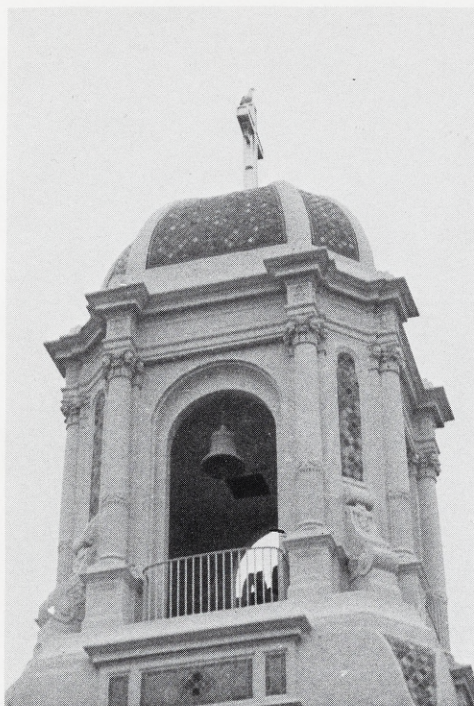

*We can be free!
We can learn to fly!*

MR. PHILIP A. GRAVEM

Jonathan is that
brilliant little
fire that burns
within us all, that
lives only for those moments when we reach
perfection

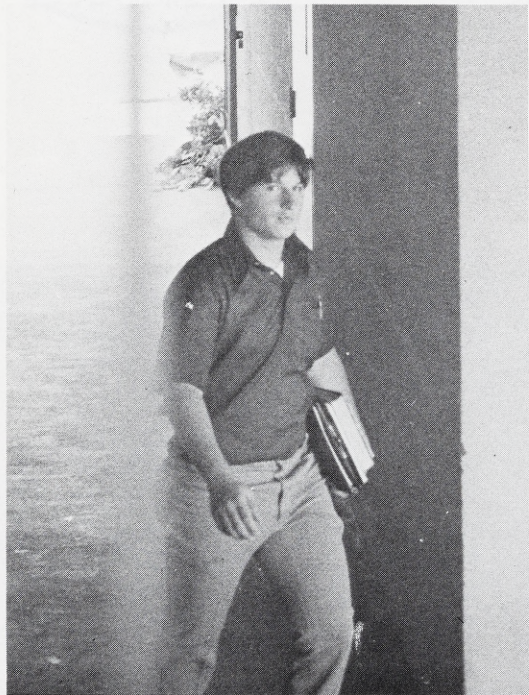

St. Joseph and Notre Dame High Schools
Alameda, California
1973

It was morning

and the new sun sparkled gold across the ripples of a gentle sea.
 But Jonathan Livingston Seagull, unashamed, stretching his wings again in that trembling hard curve-slowing, slowing and stalling once more--was no ordinary bird.

Jonathan

could not be like

other seagulls--

"I want to know what

I can do in the air and what I can't, that's all.

I just want to know."

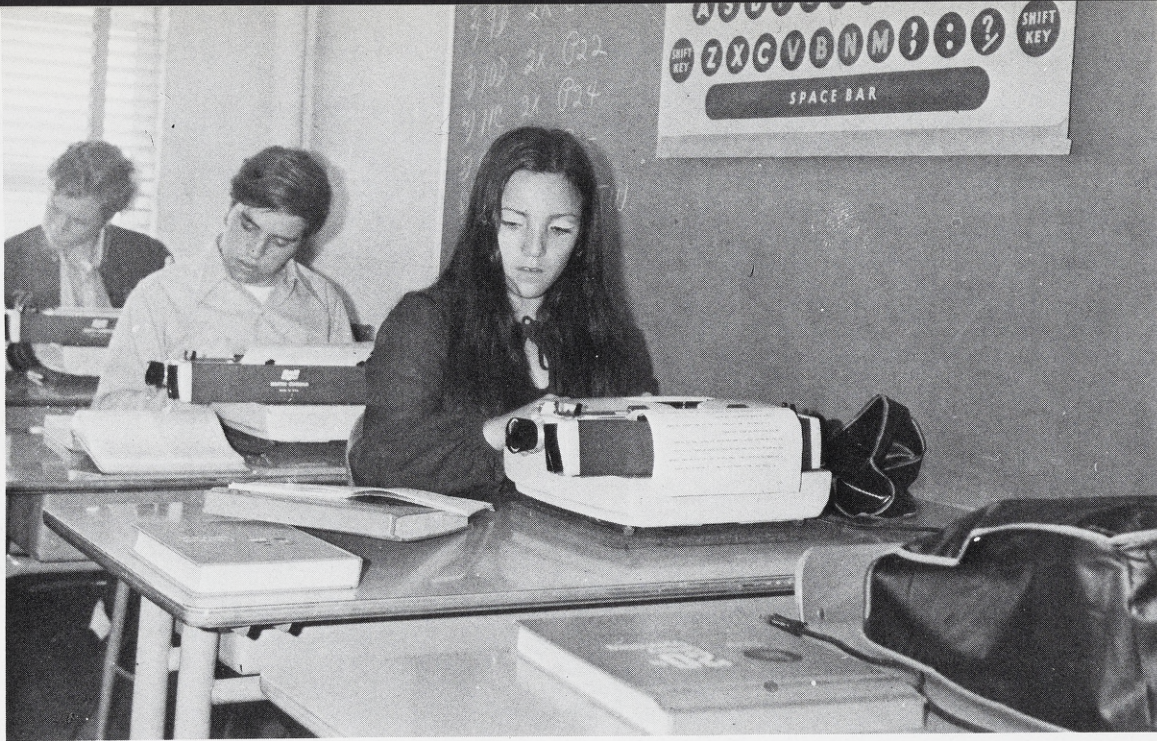

Jonathan Livingston Seagull

discovered that boredom and fear and anger are the reasons that a gull's life is so short, with these gone--he could live a long life.

Jonathan learned

to fly--

he discovered

the loop,

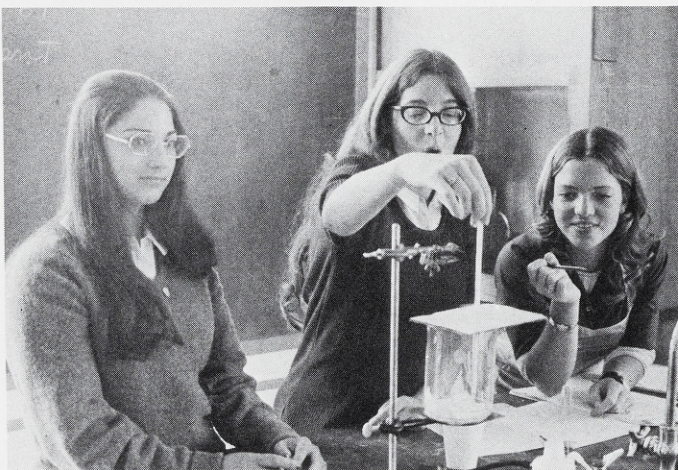

the point roll,

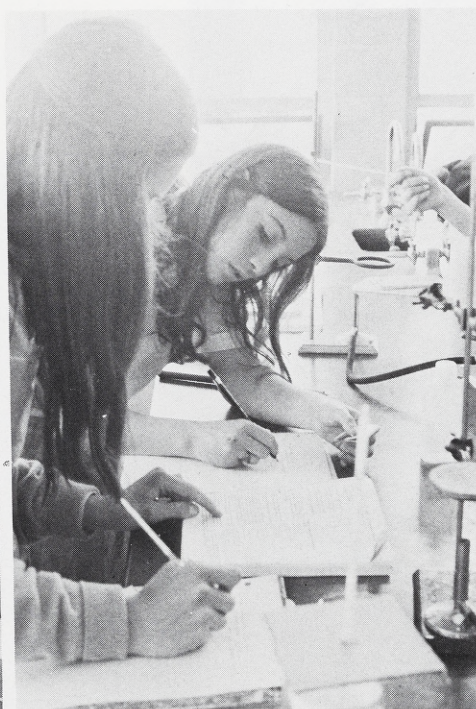

the inverted spin,

and the pin wheel...

How much more

there is now to living!

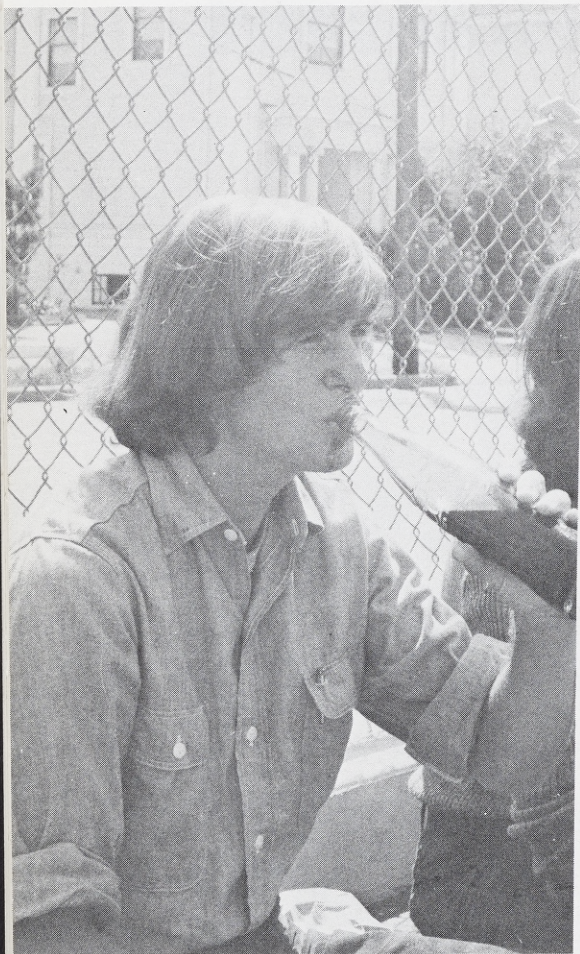

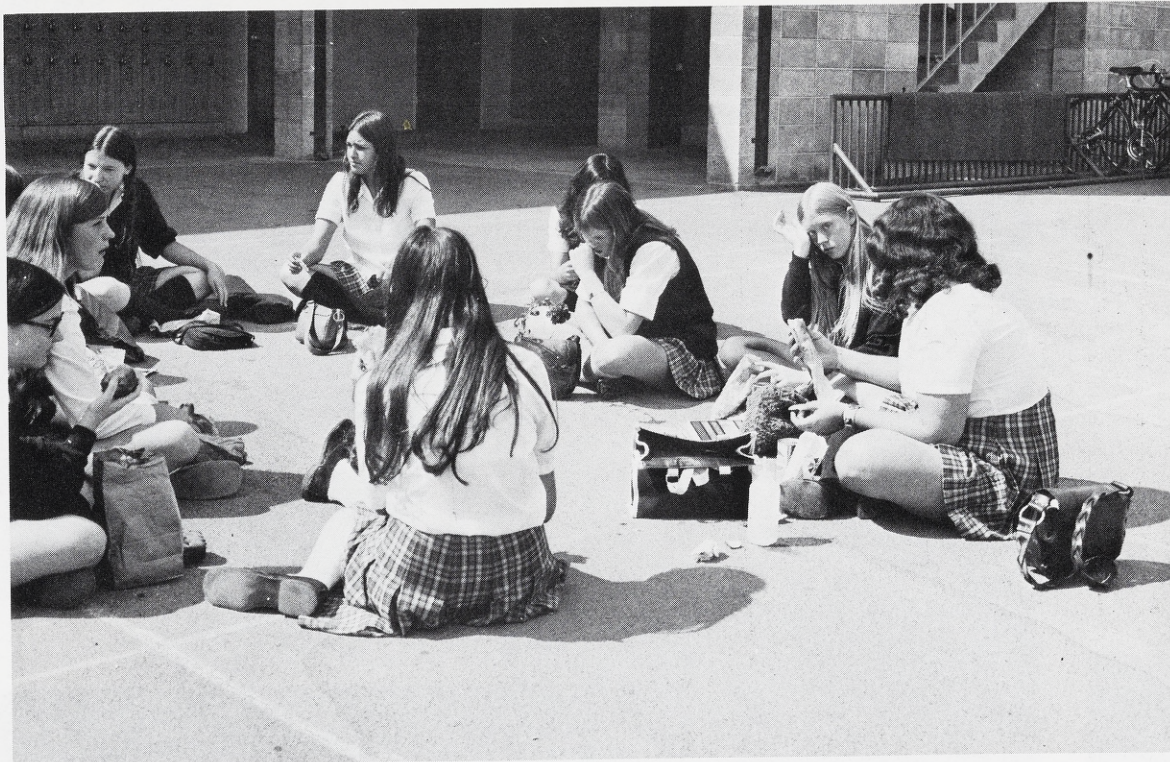

For Most Gulls,

it is not eating that mattered, but flight. More than anything else, Johnathan Livingston Seagull loved to fly. Who is more responsible than a gull who finds and follows meaning, a higher purpose for life.

If Our Friendship

depends on things like space and time, then when we finally overcome space and time, we've destroyed our own brotherhood. But overcome space, and all we have left is Here. Overcome time, and all we have left is Now. And in the middle of Here and Now, don't you think that we might see each other once or twice?

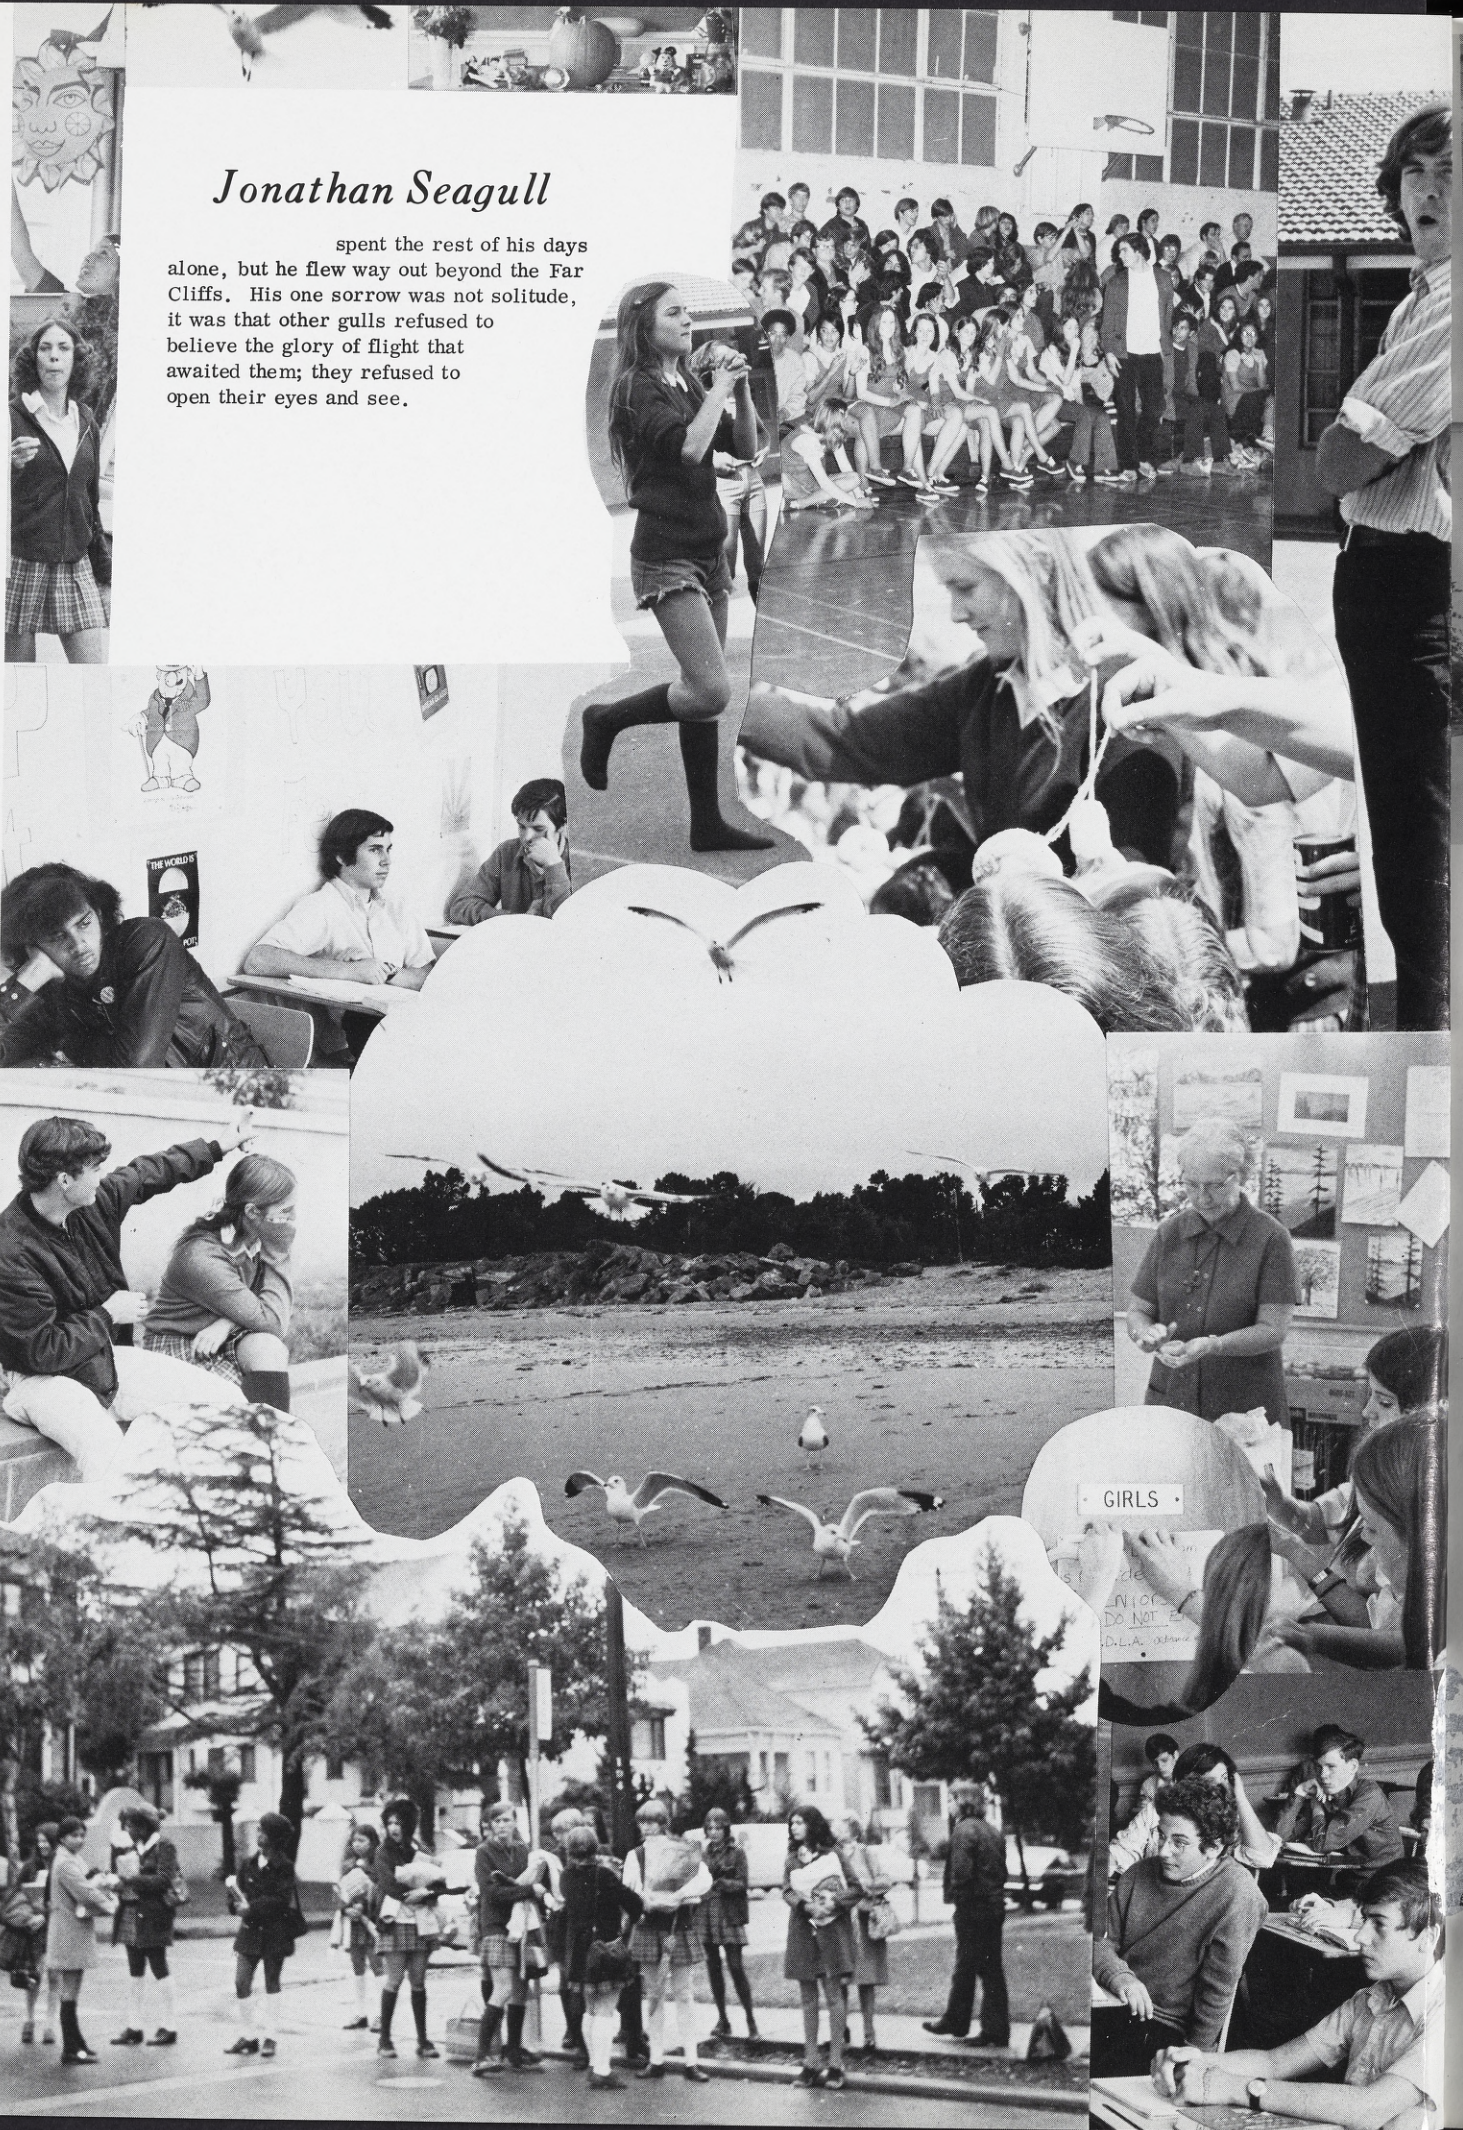

If anybody

can show someone on
the ground how to see
a thousand miles it
will be Johnathan
Livingston Seagull.
You've got to understand that a
seagull is an
unlimited idea--of
freedom, an image of the Great Gull.

Jonathan Seagull

spent the rest of his days alone, but he flew way out beyond the Far Cliffs. His one sorrow was not solitude, it was that other gulls refused to believe the glory of flight that awaited them; they refused to open their eyes and see.

Faculty

*Jonathan Seagull was born to be an instructor. And his own way of demonstrating love was to give something of the truth that he had seen to a gull who asked only a chance to see truth
for himself.*

Activities

*By sunrise there were nearly a thousand
birds standing outside the circle of students
listening and trying to understand Jonathan Seagull. He spoke of very simple things—
that it is right for a gull to fly, that freedom is the very nature of being—that
whatever stands against freedom must be set aside.*

In the days that followed Jonathan saw that there was as much to learn about flight in this place as there had been in the life behind him. But with a difference. Here were gulls who thought as he thought. For each of them, the most important thing in living was to reach out and touch perfection in that which they most loved to do, and that was to fly. They were magnificent birds all of them, and they spent hour after hour everyday practicing flight, testing advanced aeronautics.
